

Christmas Concert Set By Boys Band

Bardena Valley Boys Band will present its third annual Christmas Concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Serra High School auditorium...

Boys will wear new uniforms which they helped purchase through candy sales and other fund raising drives.

There are 47 boys in the Concert Band representing several cities of the South Bay area. Later this month, as a public service project, the group will play Christmas music for patients at Harbor General Hospital.

In January they will visit elementary schools in the southern area, playing selected programs to stimulate recruitment.

This year's Christmas Concert will feature traditional Christmas music, along with standard band numbers of increasing difficulty designed to show boys who practice can make beautiful music and have fun doing it.

On the same program, a younger group, known as the Varsity Band, plans to play four numbers as its first public appearance.

Tickets may be obtained from any band member or at the auditorium.

Street Lights Approved for Carson Area

New street lighting will brighten the neighborhood along three streets in the Carson area under an annexation program approved by the Board of Supervisors.

According to Supervisor Burton W. Chace, seven new 3,000-lumen overhead lights will be added along portions of 235th St., Orchard Ave. and Figueroa St.

The work, to be done in July, was authorized under annexation to the Dolores Lighting District as requested by tract residents.

Tract is bordered by Figueroa St. on the east and includes 235th St. and Orchard Ave. west of Figueroa.

All seven of the newer lights will be installed with overhead wiring by southern California Edison company.

Juvenile Officer Ends Post-graduate Institute

LOS ANGELES — Juvenile Officer James H. Daniel of the Torrance Police Department was graduated last night from University of Southern California's Delinquency Control Institute, where he received post-graduate level training in the latest methods of handling juvenile offenders.

Officer Daniel has been in his present position 3 1/2 years and with the department seven years. He is a graduate of El Camino College and has completed several FBI training courses.

Graduation of D.C.I.'s 35th class brings to 608 the number of graduates who have given professional service to some 1,300,000 juveniles under the age of 18 years in most of the 50 states and 22 foreign countries. Fourteen of these graduates have become chiefs of police and two are law enforcement consultants to other nations. Many others have risen in rank in their departments to assume broader administrative responsibilities.

Speaking to the graduating class, Kenneth C. Tyler, a director of Farmers Insurance Group Safety Foundation, a co-sponsor of the Institute, said "I hope that when you return to your local departments you will receive the proper cooperation from your fellow citizens in carrying out the programs and improvements that you have learned here."

A special screening committee selects students from a large number of applicants with most attending on a scholarship basis. Their course includes 12 weeks of intensive training in social treatment for delinquency, police techniques, conditioning factors in juvenile delinquency, prevention techniques, legal aspects, growth and mental development of youth, techniques of learning and teaching, administration of police juvenile programs and public speaking.

Driver's Responsibility Stressed During Yule Season

Every legal agency and civic group aligned with the safety movement in Southern California will stress the moral responsibility of motorists in preventing traffic accidents during December, according to Chief Percy Bennett of the Torrance Police Department.

"Moral emphasis," Bennett said, "has a definite place in the traffic accident prevention program, not only at Christmas time but throughout the year. However, because of the spirit of the Yuletide season, the impact of moral responsibility can be stressed most effectively."

Chief Bennett went on to cite statistics supplied by the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council which show December as the deadliest month of the year from the standpoint of traffic fatalities.

Saxons, Tartars Slate Tough Cage Battle

North High's Saxons and Torrance's Tartars square off against separate opponents Tuesday in first round play of the 21st annual Beverly Hills High School Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Saxons meet Beverly Hills and Torrance sees action against Fillmore.

Sixteen of the top Southern cage squads will fight it out for the elusive and much sought after champion's crown in the tourney which has developed into one of the outstanding high school athletic events in Southern California.

Haunted the past few years by lack of height, North High's Saxons will be confronted with the same ghost this campaign.

The Saxon attack will be headed by returning All-League guard Cary Hubert, who will be filling the hole left by last season's top Bay League player, Sparky Davidson.

Back are three lettermen from last year's fourth place Pioneer League club, Lynn Archibald, a 6' 2" first-team All-League selection last year and tabbed by many as the most aggressive player in the loop, heads up the list. Others are 5' 10" guard Ernie Clayton and center Steve Waters 6' 2". Rounding out the starting five will be John Ricci, 5' 11" guard; Mike Hatter, 6' forward; or Pete Rucner, a 6' 2" forward.

Walt Puffer, co-host of the event and director of athletics at Beverly Hills, declared "We have drawn together 16 top-notch cage squads, and I know tournament fans will see great high school basketball for five days. We have had outstanding tournaments in the past and this year's play should prove no exception."

Tuesday's first round pairings are as follows: El Segundo vs. Redondo; Torrance vs. Fillmore; Anaheim vs. Montebello; North Torrance vs. Veverly Hills. Wednesday's pairings are: Bellflower vs. Mira Costa; Compton vs. El Monte; Morningside vs. Ventura; and Culver City vs. Santa Monica.
